Bassett McNab has unveiled its first fabric collection in 20 years. For the fall 2020 release of the Origins line, creative director Anne Hahn-Waddell has updated patterns and colorways in the 125-year-old company's archives (above) to bring reimagined chinoiserie, ikats and florals to life. Available at J. Lambeth. bassettmcnab.com; jlambeth.com

1. PATTERN PLAY Lee Jofa's Linford Weaves collection features seven jacquards in multiple colorways, including aqua (pictured). Patterns range from a stylized chevron, Elmley Weave, to Cambrose Weave, a modern twist on a classic flame stitch. leejofa.com

2. OUT OF ASIA Scalaman-dré's Pacifica Collection takes inspiration from the traditional textiles of Indonesia and Japan. Pictured here: drapes in Satomi Hand Block Print, bench in Riva Moiré and pillows in Hana Embroidery and Risa Weave. scalamandre.com

3. AU NATUREL Recycled cotton yarns are used to produce two of the three textured weaves in Romo's Acara collection. One of these is Osumi, which comes in five calming colorways (pictured). romo.com

4. FLOWER POWER Colefax and Fowler's latest fabric and wallpaper collection embraces floral motifs. Greenacre depicts fan-like ginkgo leaves awash with winsome blossoms; Leaf Green (pictured) is one of the pattern's three available colorways. cowtan.com

5. BORDER LINE Trim-maker Samuel & Sons and Perennials, a performance-textile house, have partnered to release the Terrace collection. Look for 11 borders, cords and fringes woven from Perennials all-weather yarns. Pictured: Acacia Wood Bead Fringe. samuelandsons.com
