Teak Minded

After initially meeting as co-workers at home goods retailer Tuft & Needle, Nick Arambula, Chris Lee and Mike Fretto put their heads together to create Neighbor (hineighbor.com). "We're an outdoor furniture company focused on [providing] design and functionality that is typically reserved for indoor furniture pieces," says Arambula. Based in Phoenix, Neighbor furniture is the perfect investment for the Arizona heat. The key to the company's furniture is teak, a wood known for its water resistance. Lee says it best: "We made the conscious decision to use FSC-certified teak because it was important that if we were using precious resources from the earth, we were doing it responsibly and in a way that they would be replenished over time."

TAKE A SEAT

Founded in 1990, Dedon (dedon.de) pioneered woven outdoor furniture and has married manufacturing and artistry ever since. With its use of handwoven Dedon fiber, the brand seeks to bring the same care one would give an indoor living room to the great outdoors. Available through Scottsdale's Inside/Out Showrooms (insideoutshowrooms.com), its new Kida and Dala collections by designer Stephen Burks feature pieces like a gorgeous hanging lounger in three striped colorways plus circular lounge chairs in brand-new hues—Rioja, Cuba, Bahamas, Ubud and Ibiza—a club chair and sumptuous new seat cushions. Sitting pretty, indeed.

A peek at Bassett McNab's new Signature fabric collection

Pattern Play

Established in 1894 in Philadelphia, Bassett McNab (bassettmcnab.com) became a major player in the 20th century American design scene with its traditional and timeless fabrics, from classic toiles to chinoiserie to florals. Fittingly acquired by fellow Philadelphia brand Stout textiles (whose founder, Charles Stout, was a partner in the 1908 firm of Bassett McNab & Co.) in 2019, the brand has returned to life under the leadership of creative director and renowned textile artist Anne Hahn-Waddell. With its second collection in 20 years, the new Signature fabric collection is in full bloom with gorgeous florals, tropical-inspired motifs and classic houndstooth. "The colors of Signature are those of the morning sky, clear and crisp, growing in the morning sun with a soft brightness," says Hahn-Waddell. Shop the line now at Scottsdale's Brandt's Interiors (brandtsinteriors.com) and Repps (repps.info).
